Going for multidisciplinary education will offer an opportunity to the management institutions to allow cross-functional and interdisciplinary ideas to emerge, leading to innovative solutions for various problems. It will also provide an opportunity for the management institutions to start undergraduate programmes which will create wider opportunities for faculty members to teach and have bigger bandwidth for research. It will further bring in diversity on the campuses...Going for a multidisciplinary campus is thus an opportunity for management institutions to undergo transformation and emerge as institutions with multiple disciplines of study and cross-functional, interdisciplinary and trans-disciplinary research.

The National Education Policy was long due. It is heartening to see that it focuses on the development of a framework to deliver quality education. The credit based system, research orientation and pro-employment education design are going to be game changers. As far as the management education is concerned the phasing out of university affiliation is going to enhance the quality of curriculum and delivery to make management education more useful to the students. This will go a long way to make them more job ready.
